

Fish & Wildlife Biologist

In the forest products industry, working as a biologist means you are a key player in ensuring that forestry operations are run in an environmentally sustainable way. Your scientific background is complemented by a working knowledge of relevant environmental legislation. Biologists can be specialists or generalists. Forest products companies, for example, may have bird biologists on staff.

Other job titles include: Aquatic Biologist, Conservation Resources Management Biologist, Habitat Biologist.

Education & Training

Most of these occupations require graduate school. For example, they may require a master's degree, and some require a Ph.D., M.D., or J.D.

Salary

National Average Salary

$48,240 - $113,350

National Average Hourly

$23.19 - $54.50

This job may be right for you if your interests include: investigative & realistic.

This job may be right for you if your skills include: active listening, critical thinking & science.

This job may be right for you if your values include: achievement, recognition & working conditions.

