

Forest Worker

Forest workers provide the manual labor necessary to implement the plans and practices prescribed by professional foresters. Activities may include boundary line establishment and maintenance, tree marking, chemical spraying for unwanted vegetation control, tree planting and survival surveys, and insect and disease control practices. Forest workers work in the field in all types of weather conditions throughout the year.

Other job titles include: Field Laborer, Forest Support Specialist, Seasonal Worker.

Education & Training

Most occupations in this zone require a high school diploma or GED, related on-the-job experience, or vocational training.

Salary

National Average Salary

$33,050,- $54,190

National Average Hourly

$15.89 - $26.05

This job may be right for you if your interests include: realistic, conventional & investigative.

This job may be right for you if your skills include: coordination, active listening & speaking skills.

This job may be right for you if your values include: independence, relationships & achievement.

