

Ground Person

A ground person assists in the removal of trees, trimming of branches, and general maintenance of trees. These duties can include hauling brush and wood, general tree maintenance such as inspecting trees for damage, pruning, fertilizing, and planting new trees. They may also use chemicals to prevent pests, fungus, and insects. A ground person also supports worksite safety by controlling lowering ropes, limbs, and persons from above, and by conducting jobsite cleanup and equipment maintenance.

Other job titles include: Tree Service Groundsman, Tree pruner, Ground Worker

Education & Training

These occupations usually requires a high school diploma or equivalent.

Salary

National Average Salary

$29,070 - $51,290

National Average Hourly

$13.98 - $24.66

This job may be right for you if your interests include: realistic & conventional

This job may be right for you if your skills include: operation & control

This job may be right for you if your values include: relationships, working conditions & support